

Character Slogan: Mame Wilks

Character Description: Harmond's wife of more than twenty years, professional public relations representative.

Speech:

"Hold Me to It — Harmond Wilks for Mayor." Mayor Wilks... that was almost you. You could've been mayor, then governor, then Senator Wilks. All that was ahead for you. It was right there. All you had to do was follow the plan. ...I got a call this morning from the governor's office. They canceled my next interview and said they didn't want to reschedule any further interviews with me at this time. ...You jumped but I'm falling too. I'm the wife of Harmond Wilks. That's all the governor sees. All any of the other board members see. What all our friends see. I tied myself so tight to you that there is no me. I don't know if I can carry this any further. ...I have a center too. What happens when that caves in? I have questions too. You're acting like a kid who because things don't go his way takes his ball and goes home. That's what your problem is. You've always been the kid who had the ball. You're the one with the glove and the bat. You had the bike when nobody else had one. All your life you always had everything go your way. ...I'm still standing here, Harmond. I still love you. But this is all you now. Your campaign, that old house, the Hill... You're on your own with all that. I can't live my life for you. And you can't live yours for me. But I'm still standing here.

Platform:

Slogan:

Reasoning:

